Tradeflow Trade Reference Centre

Tradeflow's Trade Reference Centre is a web-enabled tool that allows access to classifications, estimation of landed costs and the ability to screen trade partners for strategic sourcing, upstream supply chain planning and compliance monitoring. Tradeflow provides extensive regulatory information for over160 countries and territories.

Tradeflow's Trade Reference Centre provides answers to all members of the supply chain:
- Buying managers - looking to estimate landed costs
- Compliance officers - desiring trade party screening and classification determination
- Logistics staff - wanting a global encyclopedia with country specific information

The Trade Reference Centre contains various tools for the trade community. Buyers can compare product sourcing options and vary manufacturing country, terms of sale or transport mode to minimize cost and maximize profitability. Sellers can compare sales viability options to determine profitability in the target markets. By screening all trade partners and identifying license requirements companies can maximize compliance and avoid costly handling and penalty situations.
